

Has she served our country?

Is he a veteran,
a brother, a husband?

Is she someone's wife?

Does he have children?

Is she an only son's mother?

The skin is dark. Is she African American?

Latino? Asian American?

Native American?

Is he a Christian?

Is she a Jew, or maybe Muslim?

Does he Believe or has her faith failed the test?

Is this a human being and deserving of
our concern, our interest,
our attention?

They deserve a roof.
Everyone Deserves A Roof.

We can lift them up from the hot pavement

EDAR™: Everyone Deserves A Roof

“And here slip I, dragging one foot in the gutter...
on a double-yellow line, where I can park anytime.
And there sits she...no bed, no bread nor butter...
some only son’s mother...” *

A mobile, secure and safe alternative to sleeping in doorways

EDAR™: Everyone Deserves A Roof

EDAR has been called a lot of things. An alternative, a solution, an answer, and a ‘hobo condo’. All of those labels are descriptive. What EDAR is not is an end to homelessness. That is way above our pay grade. Our intention is to recognize that our fellow humans require and deserve the dignity of sleeping above the ground. Away from a rain-soaked business entry, or off of the baked-hot pavement of the streets - EDAR provides for those who are most needy.

EDAR™: A history of compassion

Peter Samuelson

Inventor / Chairman EDAR.org

Peter may be best known for the award-winning movies that he has created like Arlington Road, Revenge of the Nerds and others too numerous to mention. Peter's work in philanthropy and non-profits is equally as legendary. Consider The Starlight Foundation - a charity that grants wishes to terminally and critically ill children, or First Star that improves the lives of foster youth. Peter's compassion and serial-entrepreneurship in the non-profit arena led him to invent EDAR.

"The epiphany for me happened when I met a lady who was sleeping in a cardboard box labeled Sub-Zero", explained Peter. "I realized that I owned the refrigerator, and she got the box. I thought it was disgraceful. So I challenged myself to invent a low cost shelter on wheels, for one person."

Developed and engineered by Eric Lindeman, Jason Zasa, Peter Samuelson and John Stump, EDAR will provide a singular experience whose execution is simple and the result is game changing.

Richard Stellar

Distributor / Founder The Man/Kind Initiative Inc.

Richard is familiar with taking his campaigns to the street. The homeless seem like a natural concern for someone who championed the rights of motion picture and television industry elderly when they were threatened with expulsion from the fabled Motion Picture Home in Woodland Hills, California. Since winning that battle which involve confrontations with famous and wealthy media giants, Richard recognized that on the Internet 'everyone has a voice' and he founded The Man/Kind Initiative to leverage those voices by connecting cultures through empathy and compassion via defundthefear.com.

"Man/Kind took a new direction when I noticed that the homeless were suffering during the Covid pandemic. No traffic meant no handouts. We started getting food to them through our #CovidKindness program, and along with my partner and Exec. Vice President Anne-Marie Johnson, we built an infrastructure that allowed us to distribute EDARS to churches, synagogues, mosques and institutions where EDAR can be part of a holistic solution to homeless care."
